United States v. Ford, No. 07-50029

MAR 05 2008

WARDLAW, Circuit Judge, concurring.

CATHY A. CATTERSON, CLERK
U.S. COURT OF APPEALS

I concur in the disposition. I write separately to note that although the only defense pursued by trial counsel was that of duress, given Ford's history of brain injury and psychological issues, counsel's failure to argue other available defenses is troubling.
